

WE NOMINATE

John William Kauffman, a pivotal figure in the most vitriolic community to-do since Borough-Township consolidation "came a cropper" in the early 1950's and Administrator of Princeton Hospital for the past 15 years, who in recent weeks has been projected into a major role in the nation-wide controversy generated by the vital issue of financing health care for the aged. Where in mid-winter the 44-year old Kauffman was being castigated by critics of Princeton Hospital and the Hospital's Trustees, he is now—because of the expression of his own strong views based on nearly a quarter-century of experience—being clumped among the advocates of "socialized medicine."

In a period when the medical plight of people over 65 ranks among the urgent problems bracketing the "New Frontier", it is Kauffman's conviction that "I can't see any other answer than taxation for the care of the aged through the social security mechanism." A past president of the N. J. Hospital Association, a present member of the Board of Regents for the American College of Hospital Administrators, and a former member of the House of Delegates of the American Hospital Association, Kauffman reached his present position with great reluctance, recently stating: "If someone had told me 10 years ago that I'd say this, I wouldn't have believed it."

Kauffman's forthright views were brought to the fore by a national magazine (Look, April 11, 1961). Last September he and three other leaders in the hospital and medical-care field became impatient with the unwillingness of the annual convention of the American Medical Association to enter upon realistic discussions of the crises presented by the aged. Consequently, the quartet decided to sit down on its own, to say what its members felt should be said, and then to publish their views in a professional journal. This was done in the February issue of Hospital Topics, the publication from which Look drew heavily in presenting "The Battle for Your Health Dollar".

Never one to call a club a heart, Kauffman let fly at two of the country's most vociferous medical groups, the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association. The "AHA and AMA have gone on record," he said, "opposing federal intervention in medical care for the aged. The AMA particularly has always been opposed, yet has never advanced a really sound program that the people could buy. We have continued to stick our heads in the sand until medical care of the aged has become a political issue which will be settled on a political basis."

Nor did the Pennsylvania-born Kauffman, a faculty preceptor and adviser in the public health and hospital administration programs maintained by Columbia University and the State University of Iowa, gain any new Princeton friends in stating: "I believe we can educate our hospitals, and we can get the support of the trustees, to recognize . . . the prime reason for the existence of the general hospital. This is a service to the public, not to the doctor; it's a workshop for him, but it's first and foremost a place for our patients. And it's not the doctor's prerogative to settle all of the difficulties. Our job is to work for the best interests of the people."

For believing in the things he believes in without regard for popular favor; for his growing, and constant, concern for the health-care needs of the Princeton Community; for sensing that those who need medical protection must have the least; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

ANOTHER HEARING SET

On Blight, Princeton's long-awaited public hearing to determine the question of blight in the Witherspoon-John area came to an abrupt end Tuesday night when it was adjourned after three and one-half hours of report, argument, legal debate, occasional heat, sometimes a flash of light, but no definitive conclusion.

Martin Beck, chairman of the Borough Planning Board, adjourned the hearing until 8 p.m., Tuesday, May 2, so that David Dietz, attorney for Burnett Griggs, could have time to produce an expert in the field of municipal planning.
Mr. Dietz said that his expert will bring evidence to show that the block bounded by Hal-fush, Jackson, Witherspoon and John is not a blighted area as defined by the state statute.

In a preliminary petition, read to the Board and the 150 persons who attended the hearing in the Engineering Building on Witherspoon Street, Mr.
Dietz specifically limited his remarks to the area above and eliminated from his presentation for his client the area between Jackson and Green Streets. The Planning Board's map includes the entire area between Jackson and Green on the south and north, and John and Witherspoon on east and west.

Following Mr. Cook's defused testimony, Dodd Mc-Hugh, Borough Planning consultant, testified that he had examined the eight and one-half acres involved in the hearing and had found that the present alignment of Jackson Street impeded east-west traffic, presented a potential problem to fire-trucks or other emergency equipment, and was detrimental to the health and safety of the community.

Mr. Dietz said that he had hoped to retain the planning consultant firm of Jack Ken-drew, Philadelphia, but that he had received a telegram at 7 p.m. Tuesday from Mr. Ken-drew turning down Mr. Dietz's request because of "conflict of interest." Mr. Kendrew has recently been retained as planning consultant by the Township Planning Board. Because the telegram had arrived only an hour before the blight hearing began, Mr. Dietz said he would like to have the meeting adjourned to a later date to give him time to obtain another planning consultant.

However, between Mr. Dietz's initial request for adjournment and the final hanging of the gavel, there was detailed testimony by Edmund D. Cook in which Mr. Cook gave a lot-by-lot, house-by-house description of 30 parcels of land on Jackson Street, Witherspoon Street and one building on the corner of Halfush and Witherspoon. Mr. Cook said that one-half of the properties he inspected, inside and out, were substandard and fell within the definition of "blight."

He said that the property at 1274 Witherspoon, owned by Flory and Lucy Toto, was "well-maintained" and not in need of repair, that the property at 66-48 Witherspoon owned by Robert H. Higgins was in poor condition and that the properties at 55-60 Witherspoon owned by Burnett Griggs were "excellently maintained, extremely well-planted" and not in need of any repairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Toto, Mr.
Griggs and Mr. Higgins won a state Supreme Court decision last July when the Court decided in their favor and ruled that Borough Council's "blight" decision of 1958 be set aside.

This Is Princeton

Princeton in which it was suggested that P.M.I. had deliberately let its houses and buildings go to seed, but he was stopped by Mr. Beck who said, "The Daily Princetonian is not evidence."

"If it can be proved," said Mr. Spiering, "that P.M.I. allowed their properties to deteriorate over the years with a purpose, they can be enjoined from developing the area."

Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Planning Board member, said to Mr. Dietz, "Does the shifty or willingness of the owner to improve have anything to do with the determination of blight? If blight exists, it's our duty to find it no matter who owns the property. Maybe morally, P.M.I. should have kept these houses in repair, but that doesn't affect our decision."

Thirteen photographs of P.M.I.'s Princeton Playhouse and parking lots, and the buildings owned by Mr. Griggs and Mr. Tolo were introduced as evidence by Mr. Dietz in an effort to show that the Buffalo John Jackson-Witherspoon block was not blighted.

"An area can be designated as blighted," said William Miller, counsel for the Planning Board, "even though it has in it sound buildings which would be left standing."

Letters Are Read. Although most of the hearing consisted of exchanges between the Board and Messrs Spiering and Dietz, two letters from interested citizens were read into the record.

Leighton H. Laughlin sent the Board a letter in which he said that most Princeton citizens do not consider the area blighted: "It is a home-lined for Princeton citizens," said Mr. Laughlin.

He also said he regarded urban renewal as a device for "getting something for nothing," and he suggested that other areas "may be next." He said that the "Lumber Place" Knoll Drive? He said that owners of run-down houses should be encouraged to make changes, and that the Borough should find an alternative solution to its traffic problem.

The Rev. David H. McAlpin read a letter in which he said that the dilapidated houses on Jackson Street did not constitute blight because they "all belong to the same owner," which is the same owner, which is the most powerful real estate interest in the heart of the Borough, and was "fully capable" of maintaining the properties. He also said that, if the present alignment of Jackson constituted a safety threat, so did the present alignment of Oldfield, Spring and Park.

He further said that he understood that the property owner on the corner of Jackson and Witherspoon wished to develop his property for "no doubt" that "the Borough is trying to prevent him from doing so."

An offer by the Borough to purchase the property in question as part of the Jackson realignment was immediately turned down by the owner.

Next round: May 2.

Organizers of the calls were William H. Sward, James M. Carey, Walker W. Stevenson Jr. and Donald W. Griffin, with Daniel D. Dickey, Gilbert Lee, Richard K. Poynter and William W. Stewart Jr. serving as line captains.

A friend is saying that if it weren't for the world of science, a full 50 percent of the world would be about half as far along as it is today. It seems that many researchers stumble over important discoveries when they really thought they were looking for something else. He observed that it was too bad that science was taking a hand in the same way with much efforts at social advancement, and enable him to keep his scientific abreast of the technological world.

TOPICS Of the Town

PRIMARIES TUESDAY

G.O.P. Split Three Ways. The most hotly-contested three-way race for Governor staged within the Republican party in many years will come to a climax Tuesday when New Jersey voters go to the polls for the April primary elections. The heat of battle among the three candidates was intensified last week by the sudden resignation of Dr. Charles R. Erdman of 20 Boulevard Street from the position of Republican State Chairman. Although he had announced last month that he would retire from the post after the primaries, Dr. Erdman withdrew earlier than planned in order to level charges of "unworthy campaign tactics" and "repeated assertion of falsehoods" against one of the candidates, James P. Mitchell.

Mr. Mitchell, who served as President Eisenhower's Secretary of Labor, has the backing of another Princetonian, former Senator H. Alexander Smith. Sen. Smith said this week that Mitchell hackers seek "to leave no stone unturned to find the strongest possible candidate to run against the present very strong Democratic organization in the State." He is supporting Mr. Mitchell as "a man eminently qualified to be the chief executive of our state, both by his tried and tested administrative experience, and because of his outstanding reputation nationwide."

Together with numerous other organization Republicans, Dr. Erdman has taken exception to Mr. Mitchell's statements that neither of his opponents (State Sen. Walter H. Jones of Bergen and State Sen. Wayne Dumont of Warren) can win in November. Dumont has flared, too, over the attempt by Republicans in Washington to tell "those back home" who will be the party's choice for governor.

Erdman Backs Jones. Twenty-four hours after he had blasted Mr. Mitchell, Dr. Erdman came out for Sen. Jones "because I believe the State needs the youthful, aggressive, creative leadership that he will bring in the State government." Declaring him to be "pre-eminently qualified to be our Governor," Dr. Erdman added, "I know of no one with a wider knowledge of the needs and problems of the State."

Contrary to many other communities in New Jersey, each candidate has his own committee working for his interests here in Princeton. Advertisements on behalf of each appear in this issue of TOWN TOPICS.

At the local level this week, Mr. Mitchell drew the support of two Princeton Township Committeemen, John S. Mount announced that he was backing the former Secretary of Labor after having "met, heard and talked to all three." "Committeeman, Maurice Healy, favorite - getter for the G.O.P. vours Mr. Mitchell as having "demonstrated the executive competence required to administer our complex state government."

In Lawrence Township, Albert H. Rees, a county official for 14 years, was serving as campaign manager for Sen. Jones. Said Mr. Rees, a top expected to win his primary race without difficulty. Contrary to the Republican split organization backing has gone to the Trenton attorney in the ding-dong race in succeed Gov. Robert B. Meyer, who cannot by law seek a third consecutive term.

The Democrats have, however, a major battle within their ranks for State Senator from Mercer County. The incumbent, Sido L. Ridolfi, is being opposed by Richard L. Gray. Both are Trentonians.

Other Races. One Republican, John E. Kuser, and one Democrat, Edward J. Sweeney, both Princeton residents, are among the three candidates from each party seeking nomination.

incision as assemblymen from Mercer. There are no contests at this level.

Both parties, however, will make selections for freholder from among four candidates. Among them is James E. Ward, Princeton Republican.

Elsewhere on the ticket, Republicans will have a choice to make for State Commissioner and a Committee woman from Mercer. The opposing candidates are Jack Silverstein and William J. Holman, and Mrs. William Schuler and Mrs. Ema C. Sweeney.

In Princeton, both parties have nominated full slate of mayor and council in the Borough and for Township Committee. There are no contests, however.

CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

By Princeton Day Schools. A campaign to raise $3 million for the Joint Development Program of the Princeton Day Schools, Miss Fine's and Princeton Country Day, was launched at a dinner meeting Friday at Miss Fine's School. About 500 persons attended. Funds raised in the campaign will be used for development of the new site on The Great Road, including construction of a middle and upper school building, a lower school building, playing fields, an open-air skating rink and sports areas, as well as landscaping, driveways and utilities.

Total cost of this development program is expected to be $4,075,000. However, assets in hand include the present properties of the two schools valued at $650,000; the Great Road property, gift of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Mathers valued at $200,000, and $125,000 in cash. These total $1,075,000, leaving $3 million to be raised in the drive.

"We are concentrating on a building program," Dr. Harold W. Dodds, chairman of the Princeton Country Day School explained at Friday's dinner. "Buildings are our short-term objective. Our long-term objective is educational excellence."

Goheen A. Speaker. Other speakers at the dinner were Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University, and Devereux C. Joseph, former chairman of the New York Life Insurance Company. James A. Perkins, vice president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, presided. Grace and her husband were given by Dean Ernest Gordon of Princeton University Chapel. In West Windsor, A. ### Never the Twin ... ?

A political note entered the Princeton Day Schools' fund-raising dinner last Friday when James A. Perkins, master of ceremonies, noticed that Princeton Borough Mayor Raymond F. Male and Princeton Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman were seated at extreme opposite ends of the speakers' table just as far apart as possible.

After introducing the two mayors, Mr. Perkins commented on the distance between them and then added wryly: "I should like to venture the hope that those who planned the head table were making no comment on the future of consolidation!"

Mr. Page has also made a request for permission to operate a foreign car agency on his property, but this request has been denied. His property does not lie in a business zone.

Representatives of the newly-formed West Windsor Taxpayers Association appeared before Township Committee to ask that Committee hold more and shorter meetings, publish its agenda in advance and employ a full-time building inspector for the Township. —Continued on Page 10

Irving Brecher is responsible for the picture's screenplay, but he took it from a novel by George Campbell, who presumably thought up the title all by himself.

The story, which we shall treat with merited brevity, hinges on the complications which arise when a group of

MUSIC In Princeton

PROGRAMMING INFERIOR
 In Recital Monday. For those who had heard Leopold Simoneau on recordings, and who had awaited his Princeton appearance with some trepidation, Monday evening's recital at McCarter Theatre must have been a considerable disappointment.

Mr. Simoneau's voice is pleasant, especially in the mid-range register and in "alto" voice passages. But it is smaller than one had expected, and although Mr. Simoneau has considerable control, his voice tends to be uneven and sometimes strained.

The most successful parts of Mr. Simoneau's recital, from the point of view of performance, were the group of four Dupre songs, and the encore, an excerpt from "Manon."

Of more musical prominence were a group of three Schubert songs, and the Mozart concert aria, "Per pietà, non ritecitate." The Mozart aria was sung with a sense of style, and an understanding rhythmic articulation; the Schubert songs were sung interestingly enough, but not very idiomatically, and Mr. Simoneau's accompanist, Allen Rogers, fell far short of fulfilling the demands Schubert makes of the pianist.

Perhaps the most conspicuous fault of the recital was the program itself. Why is it that only a handful of singers today (such as Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau) dare to program concerts of some musical substance and scope?

Why a concert of little bits and snatches, from mediocre Handel excerpts to unedifying trash from the 20th century, but those of Milhaud, Chabrier, Barber, Griffes and Benjamin which were presented are not among them.

Why follow Handel with a second baroque work (the Renaissance "Canilade de l'Immaculée") — sung in a style more appropriate to Ravel? Why excerpt songs from a cycle ("Der Neugierige") and "Die Rose Farbe" are both from Schubert's "Die Schöne Müllerin," when what this recital needed so desperately was a complete cycle?

This reviewer has complained about programming before, and will continue to do so whenever appropriate, because of a deep-rooted conviction that the music itself, rather than the performance, is the basic substance of a concert. Good performances are invaluable, but even the best performances of bad music, dull muscle, trifling music and mere excerpts will inevitably fail to produce a worthwhile artistic experience.

Mr. Simoneau's recital was not received with overwhelming enthusiasm by the audience, is this an indication that Princeton audiences demand from a concert not just pleasant entertainment to be passively enjoyed, but a challenging artistic experience on a deeper level?

One hopes so. Certainly Princeton concert-goers have had the opportunity this season, for in most Princeton University Concerts of Series I and II (with such recitals as those of Isaac Stern, Pierre Fournier and the Juilliard Quartet) they have been confronted with real musical stimulation.

STUDENT CONCERTS SET
 For April 14 and 21, two public concerts of music by students of Roger Sessions, professor of music at Princeton University, will be given at 8:30 p.m. on two consecutive Fridays, April 14 and 21. The concerts, to be held in Clo Hall Auditorium, are jointly sponsored by the Arts and Sciences Committee and the Friends of Music at Princeton.

The first concert will be performed by Hidetaro Suzuki and Takashi Sugitani, violinists; Cynthia Field, violist; Noel Snyder, cellist, and Sheila Marks, mezzo-soprano. Also on the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia. The program will include two string quartets, one by Robert Taylor and one by George Burt, and "Five Movements for Soprano and String Quartet," by Philip Batstone.

The concert April 21 will feature a "Café" by Donald Strum, with the composer playing piano; Marvin Mueller, flute; David Chamberlin, vibraphone, and Everett Shaw, bongos. Also on the program will be two piano works, one by Mr. Strum and one by Mr. Taylor, to be played by Phyllis Rapoport, and two string quartets, one by Michael Weisner and one by Harry Weinberg. Members of the string quartet will be Matthew Ralston and Joseph Rebuschke, violinists; Harry Zaratin, violist; and Seymour Darab, cellist.

ODETTA TO SING
 Spirituals, Ballads. The following, Odette, appearing in recital Saturday, April 22, at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre, will present many new songs and some old ones, including ballads, spirituals, blues and work songs.

Among her offerings will be a Besse Smith lament, "Special Delivery Blues," a haunting gospel song, "Ain't No Grave Can Hold My Body Down" and a large-scale version of "Children Go, I will Send Thee." The folk singer will have, as accompaniment, her own guitar and the bans of Bill Lee. Odette's appearance will provide her introduction in the area as an actress in the

BACH WORK SCHEDULED
 Cantata 198 to Be Sung. J. S. Bach's Cantata 198, "The Traveller," will be sung next Sunday, April 23 at 8 p.m. in the Princeton Methodist Church by the choir under the direction of Thomas Ellish.

The original orchestration, including parts for oboe d'amore and violin da gamba, will be used as far as possible. Wilhelm Rust wrote a text to the music of the Teuerdank and it is from his text that the present English version has been developed. The cantata was composed by Bach in 1727 for the memorial service of Queen Christiane Barckhardine of Saxony.

Acting is at peak performance throughout, from the old masters (Charlton Heston and Jack Hawkins) to the newcomers (Stephen Boyd and lovely Yvonne Harrar). Defects, besides the length, include the prologue and an excess of brutality and shock tactics. The eagerness to the battle and the crucifixion scene all seem at least to approach, if not actually violate, the bounds of good taste.

"Ben-Hur" is in color and Panavision. Performances are every day, including Sundays, at 1:30 and 7:30. Special prices also prevail. Recommended.

Danny Kaye (April 17) a pleasantly inept musical comedy about a man who sells his soul to the Devil in order to have the Washington Senators win the American League pennant. Ray Walston, as the dapper, urbane Satan, is the best thing in the show, and Gwen Verdon is appealing as Lolé, the agent of the Devil who spies the Senators' lineup. Ted Hunter who can neither sing nor dance nor act nor play baseball, is cast as the Nat's wonder boy, Shoelace Joe from Hannibal, Mo. Watch him during the big dance sequences.

The music is pleasant, if not memorable. "You've Got a Heart" and "Whatever Lola Wants" are among the sprightliest numbers. "Penn Jinkies" broke new ground, both on Broadway and on film, with its male chorus of baseball players. The baseball players actually look like baseball players.

It Happened in Broad Daylight (April 18-22) is a brilliantly effective German crime film. Written by Friedrich Duerrenmatt—who also wrote "The Visit," the dark and powerful Broadway show in which Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne starred—the film features Heinz Zühnen as Bruno Centora contributed a fine musical score.

Set in Zurich, Switzerland, the story concerns the grim, methodical hunt by police for a psychopathic killer who has already destroyed a little girl and seems to be hanging (twisted) baiting his pursuers. Lady Susan Valada's cool, tight direction produces an air of cumulative horror which is likely to keep you sitting up straight. The final scene, in which a reluctant young lady is set out to tempt the madman to strike again, rank with the most gripping moments in the history of suspense drama. The picture is not suggested for the younger set. Recommended.

minute work out. (You can climb down your hill as well as your hip by taking the 12-second for $10 offer.)

For the first hour, you work on the machines. We saw one willing subject churning away on a bike as though she were in a race, except that she was calmly reading a magazine the while ("Look maw, no hands," etc.) Another lady was in the firm grasp of a vibrator belt.

A third was sitting astride a collection of revolving pins that were honing down her thighs. There is also a rower if you want to go out for crew. Nobody was rowing when we were there.

Now, after the hour is over (and that cycle had four miles yet to go), you cross the hallway to the massage rooms. Here you lie on a padded table with warm, gently moving pads under your shoulder blades or your hips and if you're like most Figurama customers, you promptly fall asleep.

The tables, which are run electrically of course, are designed to do all kinds of things. You can set the pads to move in alternate directions, or you can reach over your head and grove a metal bar if you want to give various muscles a good stretch. Infinite possibilities.

It is, of course, the ladies who use Figurama most. Young mothers sent by obstetricians; middle-aged mothers full of nursery-school tensions; elderly mothers who have begun to spread. However, the saloon is also open to men whose doctors say "More exercise," and men may consult Mr. Higgin on Monday and Wednesday evenings without running into a single female. Phone number is WA 4-800.

FOR GOOD SPORTS

Tiger is Ready. One season leads right into another in the Tiger Auto sports department and you can probably buy ice skates there in July, for all we know. At the moment, among the pieces of tackle and the baseball mitts there is a firm collection of hackboards for people who throw baskats all summer. Just thought we'd mention it.

Tiger likes the idea of starting fishermen out young with a $1.75 rod-and-reel set. This will not satisfy father, of course, but the $30 rod and the $15 reel probably will. He can also buy his license here, as you probably know. We won't begin to describe all the different kinds of bait in this shop. We couldn't see them anyway because it was the first day of the fishing season and the store was jammed with fishermen looking for the one that got away.

If baseball is your preference, Tiger will provide everything but a home run. We were taken with a $8 cent set consisting of ball and glove. You have to start somewhere. From there you can go up to the $35 glove, and there are all sorts of prices in between.

For Little Leaguers, Tiger has baseball shoes with rubber spikes (up to $8) and for larger leaguers, there are standard shoes with metal spikes.

In tennis, there is a sound bargain in some English tennis balls at $1.39 for three. Racquets range from $1.95 to $24.95. Straddling the toy and sporting goods departments is a fleet of wagons for sturdy young outdoorsmen. You can buy a beauty of a statebody wagon with heavy rear tires and roller bearings for $25, or a chubby red metal wagon just big enough to trundle home a loaf of bread.

CLEAN SWEEP PREDICTED: Brooms and other items made by the blind will be sold throughout the community Saturday by the Princeton Lions Club, with proceeds aiding its charitable enterprises. Maps, rakes, door mats and ironing board covers will also be offered. Displaying some of their wares are Edwin Tausaint, club president; Murray Abelson and Paul Ashton, the latter sale chairman.

Join us for breakfast... steaming hot coffee or fragrant tea... English muffin buttered to melt on your tongue... fresh country eggs... sausage... begin these spring mornings right!

KID KILLED BY TRAIN
Died in Hospital—Steven Lord, age two, was fatally injured Friday afternoon when he was struck into the path of a shuttle train of the Pennsylvania Railroad spur line passing Alexander Street. Steven was the only child of Dr. and Mrs. Frederic M. Lord, 79 Denney Avenue.

The accident occurred at 4:45 Friday afternoon. Steven was with his mother, who was shopping at the John Old Garden Market on Alexander Street. Township police say that he wandered off, unnoticed, and strayed into the path of the train, which was headed toward Princeton Junction on a down grade.

He was struck by the train and was hoisted about 12 feet. He fell between the rails and both coaches of the Diesel-electric train passed over him. Herbert W. Merabon, 8 Erdman Avenue, the engineer, told investigators that the train was going about 15 miles an hour on its usual passenger run to Princeton Junction.

Sergeant Jack Petrone and Princeton Norman Service of the Township police force answered the call. The boy was taken to Princeton Hospital in a Princeton First Aid Squad ambulance and he died in the hospital at 5:38 p.m. of a skull fracture and brain lacerations. Steven's father is in the research department at Educational Testing Service and is a visiting professor of psychology at Princeton. In addition to his parents, Steven is survived by his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Lord of Huppover, New Hampshire and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cersovsky of Port Chester, New York.

Cremation was Monday under the direction of the Nether Funeral Home. A short, silent memorial service will be held on Monday at 6 p.m. at the Friends Meeting House, Quaker Road, Dr. and Mrs. Lord have asked that, in addition to flowers, contributions be made to the Playground Equipment Fund for children which the

French Market Friday

A traditional Princeton spring activity, The French Flower Market of the Garden Club of Princeton, will make its annual spring appearance Friday at its usual location—the small island at the junction of Mercer and Alexander Streets across from Town Towers. The Market will be held every Friday throughout the spring from 9 to 11:30.

Daffodils will be in abundance at the first market. Each week, cut flowers, seedlings, vegetables and a variety of plants will be sold. Proceeds from the market will be used to support the community welfare organizations.

Mrs. Daniel Dickey and Mrs. Christopher Rodgers will act as co-chairmen of the Market. Mrs. Kenneth Condit will be in charge of the first one.

Lords have established in Steven's memory.

PARKING SOLUTION NEEDED

Mayor Teils Council. Negotiations for the land for the proposed Vandewater-Park Place parking yard are progressing to the extent that a solution is "more of a certainty than ever before," Mayor Raymond F. Miele told Borough Council at its monthly meeting Monday.

Mayor Miele made the statement during discussion on a variance granted by the Zoning Board for the construction of an office building at 136 Nassau Street. A parking lot attached to the building would have its only entrance directly opposite the Nassau Street School.

The Mayor reported that the buyers "share our concern over the hazard to children," and added that although present plans have already been approved by the Zoning Board, the building has the support of the builders "in going to a different way."

He said that the builders also have "parking facilities developed internally within the block," the Mayor outlined. "We can't push a button to alter and accomplish all the desired things," he stated that the "strongly believed" that the proposed building would not involve hazards to children from parking facilities.

Mrs. Barbara Money, owner of property at 260 Nassau Street, withdrew her request for a zoning variance to allow conversion of the property to multi-family apartment. Three letters protesting such conversion were sent to Council and several neighborhood residents made verbal protests.

Councilman Albert A. Austen proposed that Council appoint a representative to attend meetings of the Zoning Board, but Assistant Borough Attorney Peter Bascia noted that such a move might be considered as an effort to exert "undue influence" upon an independent body.

Councilman Ben D. Coyle stated that citizens should raise objections to Zoning Board actions at meetings of that body rather than waiting until variances are referred to Council.

Sidewalks Planned. A public hearing was set for May 16, on an ordinance to appropriate $15,000 from the Borough's capital improvement fund for construction of sidewalks and curbs.

The ordinance calls for sidewalk construction on the north and south sides of Prospect Avenue between Cedar Lane and the existing sidewalk near Harrison Street, the south side of Nassau Street, between Cedar and Riverside Drive West and the west side of Riverside between Nassau and a point about 360 feet south of Nassau; on the east side of Cedar between the existing sidewalk south of Nassau Street and the Borough Line; and on the west side of Cedar between Princeton Avenue and the Borough Line.

Curbs will be constructed on the west side of Riverside from Nassau to a point about 560 feet south of Nassau.

Councilman Coyle suggested that Borough Engineer Arthur T. Brokaw meet informally with representatives from the Township Committee to consider possible joint planning on sidewalk and curb construction.

Higher Liquor Fees Planned. Public hearings were set for Tuesday, May 8, on ordinances to raise the price of liquor licenses and to authorize the appropriation of $3,000 from the capital improvement fund to provide fencing for the Hamilton Avenue and Erdman Avenue playgrounds and a new grass play blade. New prices for liquor licenses would be $275 for retail consumption, $400 for retail distribution and $150 for club licenses.

Council voted $4 to approve a variance granted by the Zoning Board which will allow Clifford W. Cost to convert his property at 204 Ewing Street from a single to a two-family dwelling.

Mrs. Minnie Robinson, owner of adjacent property, protested the approval, claiming that she tried to obtain a similar variance in 1957 and had been told "it was against the law."

Trees Planting Urged

The Borough Engineering Office has announced plans to extend financial aid to those desiring to plant shade trees between the curb and sidewalk in front of their homes on Arbor Day, April 28.

The Borough will pay one-half the cost of each tree not exceeding the sum of $10 per tree. Citizens may order trees from any area nursery, but planting plans must be approved by the Engineering Department.

Trees will be planted under Borough supervision. Those interested may call the Engineering Department for further information on WA 4-3485.

Topics Of The Town

Councilman Austen cast the lone dissenting vote.

An inquiry from Mrs. Chester Billings of 298 Nassau Street concerning possible zoning violations by a neighbor was referred to the Borough Engineer for investigation.

Miscellaneous Action. Council voted to increase the daily pay of school crossing guards from $4.75 to $6. The increase

A request from Trinity College for permission to erect will be effective April 1, money had been provided in this year's budget.

Council confirmed the election of Roger W. Rocknack of 188 Pleasantonington Road to active membership in Mercer County Engine Company No. Three.

church identification signs at two locations was referred to Councilman Coyle for further investigation.

Council granted a license to conduct a raffle to St. Paul's Church. The raffle is scheduled for August 15.

Councilman Coyle informed representatives of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council present at the meeting that he had received complaints concerning litter in front of stores near Palmer Square. He argued that efforts be made to remove the debris, especially on Sunday mornings.

Councilman Austen informed OPCO representatives that proposals to make commercial vehicles pay parking fees similar to those charged other vehicles were being considered. He is chairman of the Committee on the Future of Princeton.

Councilman Austen also said that representatives of his committee will attend agenda meetings of the Township Committee to discuss common problems, especially in the area of recreation.

Paul Dura of 33 Oakland Road, a taxi owner, commended the work of Patrolman Russell Schandig who has been directing taxi inspection for Borough Police.

PLANNER BRIEFED

By Township Board. Jack M. Kendrick, newly-appointed consultant to the Township Planning Board, attended his first Board meeting Monday night and was briefed for over two hours on his new duties. Mr. Kendrick's Philadelphia firm will study light industry and multiple housing ordinances, among other specific assignments.

He will also receive all preliminary plans and check lists for subdivisions in advance of Planning Board hearings so that he can appear at the hearings with full knowledge of each new proposal. He will begin work in Princeton this Thursday.

The Board also turned back the plans submitted by Dr. Cornelia Jaynes for the development of two lots on Route 206 and one lot on Cherry Valley Road. The Board asked for a more specific description of use for the Cherry Valley lot, and also for technical information.—Continued on Page 14

George Alexander, whose State Road home is near the Jaynes' property, told the Planning Board he was disturbed by the appearance of Route 206 business properties, and said he felt that the area made a bad impression on people entering Princeton Township via 206. Samuel Frothingham, chairman of the Board, suggested to Mr. Alexander that businessmen in the area form a kind of "Operation Nassau" to improve the appearance of Route 206.

IT'S LIBRARY WEEK

Starting Sunday, "For a Richer, Fuller Life" — Read, is the theme for the 1961 observance of Library Week.

The week, which begins Sunday and continues to April 22, the Princeton Public Library has scheduled two 45-minute programs of poetry readings over WPRB, to be given next Monday and next Friday from 8-10 to 10 p.m. The readings will be taken from recordings made by eight contemporary American poets.

HIGH FINANCE AMONG THE YOUNGER SET: In the area of weekly allowances, in which there are no hard and fast standards, Helen Sommer (left) is satisfied with her weekly stipend of 60 cents. Her companion, though, Lute Seifert, put this as one creeping inflation, may be justified in feeling that her weekly dole of a quarter is inadequate. For other comments, see below. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: How much of an allowance do you think you should get each week?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Helen Sommer, 10, 12 Henry Avenue, 6th grader, Valley Road School: I think if you have to pay for movies and library fines, you should get 60 cents a week. That's what I get and I think it's fair.

Lute Seifert, 10, 16 Prospect Avenue, 5th grader, Nassau Street School: I think you ought to get around $2 a week, especially if you have to pay for your own clothes. I only get 25 cents a week and I'm ten years old, too. A whole lot of kids I know get $1 a week.

Narl Strange, 19 Hamilton Avenue, 10, 5th grader, Nassau Street School: I think you should get at least 50 cents a week. You need that much to go to the movies and stuff. My mother only gives us a little; we have to keep asking for what we get. But, heck, we earn our money by running errands and keeping the change.

Frances Sinyar, 11, 114 Prospect Avenue, 6th grader, Witherspoon School: Seventy-five cents a week because I have to pay for my own movies. As I get older, I get a little bigger allowance, but I'd like it to be a little larger than it is now because I'd like to be able to do other things than just go to the movies.

Brian McGrath, 10, 89 Dempsey Avenue, 5th grader, Valley Road School: It depends on the things you need an allowance for. If you need it for church money, lunch money and milk money, I think $1 a week would cover these items. You could spend or save what's left.

Tracy McGrath, 8, 151 Hamilton Avenue, 4th grader, Nassau Street School: Fifty cents a week because you can just get enough of the things you want if you save up long enough.

Kyle McGrath, 151 Hamilton Avenue, 8, 3rd grader, Nassau Street School: Forty-five cents. Same reason as Tracy said, but I'm a year younger so I only get 45 cents a week.

Kane "Hoky" Baker, 16 Canal Road, junior, Princeton High School: I don't think you really need it at all. I feel a dollar or two a week should be sufficient. That's all you should spend a week.

Warren Baker, 12 Canal Road, 7th grader, Valley Road School: I don't think you need much of an allowance because there isn't anything of that importance that you have to buy at this age. There is always plenty of junk you can waste your allowance on. I think $1.50 or $1.75 a week would be fair.

Linda Carrig, 25 Farragut Circle, New Rochelle, New York, age 6: Fifty cents a week because if I save up for two weeks I'll have a dollar and I'll have enough to buy anything I want.

Paul Stancer, 19 Hamilton Avenue, 11, Witherspoon Street School: I think you should get an allowance but you should work for it rather than just sit home and do nothing. How much you get should depend on how hard you work. I'd say 80 cents a week at the most and a dime a week at the least.

Karen Wagner, 11, 19 Jefferson Road, 5th grader, Nassau Street School: Twenty-five cents. That's all I really need to spend a week.

Nancy Frank, 11, 38 Jefferson Road, 6th grader, Witherspoon School: I think I should get 50 cents a week but I get 25. My brother gets 50 cents but he doesn't work around the house; he has a paper route. I work around the house but sometimes I don't, so I think I should only get 50 cents.

Harry Cooper, 14, 169 Washington Road, 8th grader, West Windsor Township School: Two dollars. Terms like a good amount because I like to go bowling and to the movies on weekends and two dollars seems to just about cover it.

Robert Shaw, 12, 166 Washington Road, 7th grader, West Windsor Township School: About $1.50. Unexpected purchases might come up. I might want to go to the movies or go bowling or buy something like a record. I need at least this much to cover these unexpected purchases.

Catherine Donald, 12, 7 Princeton Avenue, 6th grader, Witherspoon School: Fifty cents. I don't buy anything much. My father gives me money for movies so I don't need any more than that.

Michael Ann Turner, Mercer Road, FHS freshmen: If all depends if you work or not. For instance, I get two dollars a half hour washing dishes so I don't need any allowance. Of course, if you are a girl you don't need as big an allowance as a boy does; they have to — Continued on Page 18

OIL ADS CONTINUED

By Public Service. Gas Company has initiated action against the Oil Heat Council of New Jersey, claiming that statements appearing in a series of newspaper advertisements and radio spot announcements issued by the council are "misleading and erroneous." Public Service's action is being taken through the Division of Consumer Frauds of the State Attorney General's office.

Public Service says that the Oil Heat Council's advertisements claim that a large number of homeowners in Levittown, N.J., have converted from gas heat to oil heat and state that those who have made the conversion to oil heat have effected large annual savings.

Public Service states that the claimed number of conversions from gas to oil heat is "substantially in excess" of the actual number of such conversions. Furthermore, the company states that the claimed savings with oil heat are excessive and "cannot be substantiated in fact."

IT'S CLEAN-UP WEEK! Household, young and old, are busy with spring cleaning, and what better place to begin than one's own front steps? Kate Pillsbury, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pillsbury, 173 Hickory Court, is a highly competent girl with a broom and apparently she knows that Clean-Up Week will begin Monday in Borough and Township and continue through Friday. (Staff Photo).

Question Of The Week

 pay for everything. I think if a girl doesn't work she should get about two dollars a week.

Nicolas Easton, Allwood Drive, Lawrenceville, Hux School sophomore: What I'd like to have and what my parents can afford go in two different directions. I think I should get about $15 to $20 a month. Out of this I'd pay for my bus fare and any other incidentals like snacks, after-school dates and school supplies.

Henry Shields, 6, 18 Charlton Street, 2nd grader, St. Paul's School: I think I should get $1.25 a week so I can save up to buy myself a bike.

John Myers, Province Line Road, 11, 6th grader, Princeton Country Day School: Oh, 50 cents. I only get 25 cents a week but I think I should get 50 because I do a little bit more chores than I used to. I started out with 20 cents a week, then I got 25 cents, and now I get 35.

Percy "Hannum" Clark, 122 Elm Road, 11, 6th grader, Princeton Country Day School: A dollar. I think a dollar is right because it gives you what you need to spend in town and to buy the necessary things you need. You usually don't get home from school 'til about 3:30 and then I don't have time to go into town too often so you can't over-spend your allowance. I get $15 a month but I have to buy my own clothes. I'd rather get a dollar week because I spend nearly all my money on clothes.

James Cramer, 221 Nassau Street, 12, 7th grader, St. Paul's School: I get a dollar. If you have to buy your own school supplies I think you should get a dollar a week.

William Shields, 16 Charlton Street, 11, 6th grader, St.

Paul's School: I don't think you need an allowance because if you need something your mother will give you the money for it. Maybe you'll get a dime one day, a quarter the next for papers and pencils and all that junk. If they give you a dollar for what you want each week, you'd spend a quarter for papers and that would leave you 75 cents a week and what can you do with 75 cents? I think it is better to ask for the money as you need it.

SEMINARY HAS GRANT
For Unique Project, Princeton Theological Seminary has received a grant of almost $20,000 for the preparation of a new bibliography of New Testament studies, the first such project in a century, according to Seminary president James I. McCord. The award comes from Lilly Endowment, Inc.

Dr. Otto A. Piper, professor of New Testament Literature and Exegesis, will direct the project, which aims at making available to Biblical scholars a listing of every work in the New Testament field published since the invention of printing.

"The last such bibliography was published a hundred years ago," said Dr. Piper. "We will expand and update it to cover the period since its publication, as well as correct certain listings and include others missed in the previous volume."

The New Testament Department at Princeton Seminary has been working on the bibliography for a decade. At present, it covers over 150 pages and is distributed to professors and graduate students at the Seminary for research. The object of the Lilly project is to make the bibliography as valuable for historical as for typical research methods. It is hoped that the project will be finished in three years.

DEAR TRAVELEX,

We've heard from our friends on the Sea Safari again!

Their stop at Rio De Janeiro was delightful. A truly beautiful city. On board ship they have been really resting up with good food and deck sports in the sunshine.

On their trip inland to Brazil they were amazed to see how much progress has been made with this entirely new city in the jungle.

Took in the Iguaçu Falls which are two and one half miles wide and drop over two hundred feet!

They sailed on down the coast of South America visiting Santos, Montevideo and Buenos Aires and then on across the South Atlantic. OH ME!

Report from THE MAYOR

Open House Schedule: The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor" sessions will be held on Thursday, April 13, and on Wednesday, April 19, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

Next week's session is set for Wednesday in order that the Mayor may attend the national alumni conference entitled "Princeton in World Affairs: The Challenge of International Responsibilities." Certainly it can be said of this community, as Dean Brown has said of the University, "Our further goal must be, 'Princeton, a Resource in the World.'"

Advisory Committee: After consultation with Martin Beck, our planning board chairman, and with the advice of many interested citizens and groups, the Mayor has announced the appointment of a citizens' advisory committee to advise on the master planning of Princeton's future.

Members include William N. Smyth, 250 Hawthorn Avenue; Mrs. Harold G. Gulikson, 12 Alken Avenue; Sherman Bates, 23 Quarry Street; Arthur P. Morgan, 18 Hibdon Road; Norman Williams Jr., 74 Allison Road; Harry Petrozini, 19 Saunders Lane; and Miss Beatrice Miers of 131 Bayard Lane.

The Mayor also hopes to persuade former Council President Richard A. Lester to serve with the committee. Mr. Lester is presently in Colorado in connection with an important national assignment. It is expected that Mr. Beck will assign two members of the advisory group to work with each of four planning board subcommittees working on the master plan studies.

Future Mayors: On Friday morning at Philadelphia, the Mayor was privileged to preside at a panel session of the national meeting of the American Society for Public Administration. The topic: preparation for finding and training future mayors and other elected executives for local and state government.

On the panel were Syracuse University's Prof. Steve Bailey, formerly of Woodrow Wilson School here; and Don Herzberg, Princeton Township resident who now heads the Eagleton Institute, a graduate training center for "practical politics" at Rutgers. Participants suggested a dozen major ways to encourage interest in elective public office; and Prof. Bailey shocked many of the audience by reporting that seven out of every ten American mothers do not want their sons involved in politics.

The Schedule: Mayor and Council are anxious to wrap up the remaining agreements leading to a major off-site parking facilities in key areas of the central business district. Spurred on by Councilman Redding's statement that "it's this week or never as far as I'm concerned," the governing body went about the business of morning, afternoon and evening conferences aimed at ironing out a host of details affecting a long list of parcels. Following Monday night's meeting, a brief session with Assistant Borough Attorney Peter Basick left no doubt that Council intends to proceed with deliberate speed.

A Major Effort: Borough and Township mayors, seated at opposite ends of the long dais, were guests of the Princeton Day School on Friday evening at the dinner meeting launching their drive for funds to build the new coordinated school to expand the program of Miss Fine's and P.C.D.

The speakers - Devereux Josepha, President Cohen and President Dadds attested the importance of the underlining. One item still to be resolved: the future use of the site of Miss Fine's.

SPORTS In Princeton

PITCHING IS 'X' FACTOR
 As PHS High School Rebuilds, "In High school baseball, pitching makes up 80 per cent of a ball team. If we get the pitching, we'll have a pretty fair season."
 So says Harry Zoll who is starting his fifth season as head coach of the Princeton High School baseball team.

The number one hurler and anchor man of Zoll's pitching staff is southpaw John Rogerson, one of three returning lettermen from last season's season-dominated squad. The only pitcher to have any experience on the Princeton team, Zoll is starting his third season under Zoll. When not on the mound, Rogerson, a hitting pitcher, will be called on to patrol the outfield.

Two who have been tapped
 in an effort to plug the gaping hole left by Jack Lackey, the graduated nonpareil southpaw who won 17 of 26 games in a brilliant three-year span for the Little Tigers, are Bob Chubbard, a senior who throws from the right side, and Eric Bergstrom, a right-hand-throwing junior. The fourth pitcher that Zoll confesses he needs badly may appear in the form of Greg Selva, a transfer student from Highland Park.

Aside from Rogerson, the copy returning lettermen are Allen Wood and Archie Freeman, Captain-elect of this year's team. Woody is a dangerous clutch hitter and has sewed up the left field position. Freeman has been moved by Zoll to first base, after playing right field last season.

Good Catching Prospect. Outer probably starters in other positions include Dave Lanning and Tom Olsen, both Juniors. Dave, who did not try out for the team last spring, is described by Zoll as "probably the best catcher around here in five years." Olsen is another who did not play freshman or junior varsity ball, but who is "pretty sure" to start at third. He is a good hitter.

A sophomore will probably hold down the important shortstop position. Henry Schmidt, a transfer student with athletic ability, a phenomenon which brings crashing into every coach's life, has looked good in practice and seems to have the position wrapped up. Ted Skaar and Jack Walstad are waging a spirited battle for second base.

Seniors in Utility Role. Two seniors, Miles Trussell and Charles Warshafski, should see action as utility players. Trus-sell can fill in at first base, in the outfield or behind the plate. Warshafski is a spare outfielder.

One of the 30 candidates vying for a starting position that Zoll is eager to have a second look at is a muscular sophomore named Jack Britton.
 Zoll said that from the reports
 he had received from Don Blankenbush, the Junior varsity coach, Britton could play any position and "should be a ballplayer." Another player recommended by Blanken-bush, in much the same category as Britton, is Ray Panciro.

How much hope does Zoll have of approaching his success of last year. When his team, which he had carefully groomed for three years, swept over all competition to win the Central New Jersey Group III championship, the first title any PHS team has captured? His "graduation team," as Zoll was wont to call it, compiled a 17-4 record last season and the former Ursinus pitcher said he would settle for that again. Then taking tongue from cheek, he added that if his team got some hitting, the pitching and a lot of breaks, it should do all right.

"I firmly believe that baseball is a great equalizer," Zoll said. "Last year we took Trenton High 14-0, one of the worst

PHS CAPTAIN AND BATTERY: Captain of the 1961 Little Tigers, Allen Wood (left) with catcher Dave Lanning (center) and pitcher John Rogerson. beatings they ever had. Next think that is the most a coach day, we lost to Somerville, can ask of anybody."

PHS will play a 17-game schedule starting with Steiart High School on Friday at Harris Field. Game time is 3:30.
 Of the 17 outings, 14 will be home-and-home games with Steiart, Trenton Catholic

 Long Branch, Ewing and Hunt-

LEAGUE RACE TO START

For Tiger Nine. A pair of weekend games against Brown and Harvard will open the Eastern Intercollegiate League season for Princeton's baseball team. The Tigers will face the Bruins Friday at 4 in a contest that may not go the distance because of darkness or cold.

and then meet Harvard Saturday at 1.

All three teams will have pitching problems in playing two games in as many days. Both the Tigers' opponents will also travel to Annapolis on their swing south, the Crimson going there Friday and Brown meeting Navy Saturday. Of the four, Navy is the best bet to win twice.

Both Brown and Harvard spent a week below the Mason-Dixon line but the Tigers should have a slight edge on them in number of days spent budoring. Like Princeton, neither of these teams has two frontline pitchers and none of the three is expected to finish high in the race.

The Orange and Black's hope for defining first division was strengthened by two developments last week. One was an infield switch which returned Bill MacMillan from third to first and installed sophomore Larry Schoenfeld at the hot corner. Infield play promptly tightened noticeably, with errors half credited to the Tigers on a chilly, windy afternoon game with Amherst.

The other was a loss of power at the plate. In successive games against Rutgers and Amherst, Princeton accounted for 20 hits and 19 runs. It should be added that errors by the opposition were of considerable assistance (Amherst was guilty of nine, plus a couple of passed balls) but the Tigers have been hanging the bats with some success.

Bill MacMillan, who made two hits against both Rutgers and Amherst and was credited with two runs batted in on each of his blows in the latter game. The last was a lusty double that bounced off the left field fence after he had missed a 340-foot home run when the ball went foul by a few feet.

Pitching a Problem. The big question, of course, is how well the pitching will hold up. Wally Phillips, counted on as top man of the otherwise inexperienced staff, was shelled for five earned runs in four innings at Rutgers as the Tigers blew a 5-0 lead.

He came on in relief against Amherst and retired the last two men to nail down a 9-4 triumph, counted on as probably the start against Brown on Friday, with sophomore Teun Schoolwerth or Jim Hunter possible inlets against Harvard. A mid-week game at Villanova Wednesday further complicated the problem, but the league games will get the top pitching choices.

Schoolwerth was credited with the Tigers' first victory of the season after losses to Massachusetts, Seton Hall (4-6) and a 10-0 tie with Rutgers. He went five innings against Amherst, yielding eight bases on hits but holding the losers to three hits. Sophomore John Costes and finally Phillips worked in relief.

The Tigers planned the defeat on Dick Drew, a senior left-hander who had been beaten only once in his three-year career and who had won his last seven in a row. They overcame a 1-0 deficit with a four-run third and never were headed thereafter.

LACROSSE VS. NAVY

Another Tough Opponent.

The rocky road Princeton's lacrosse team is following has no turning for the immediate future. Having absorbed 105 and 135 defeats at the hands of Maryland and John Hopkins the Tigers now face two more tough opponents in the service team.

Navy will be here Saturday at 2:30 for a game on Pine Field, with a trip to West Point set for the following weekend. By action will then begin, but a couple of dangerous foes loom there, too. Cornell should be strong, and high-scoring Harvard has already beaten well-regarded Rutgers.

John Hopkins, picked by Ferris Thomson to win the national championship, was no better than 1-1 with the Tigers at the end of the first period Saturday in Baltimore. The visitors had even scored first.

Thereafter, however, the good gates opened as the skillful Bluejays used Princeton's undermanned defense for eight second-period goals. Six more followed in the third quarter to turn the game into pretty much of a rout.

OTHER SPORTS

Track Meet Scheduled. Going after its fourth straight victory, Princeton's track team will play host Saturday to Columbia in Palmer Stadium. The Tigers are favored to win easily.

An outclassed Merchant Marine Academy was the team's third victim last weekend as the Orange and Black took 14 of 18 first places. It was a 112-28 final.

Princeton's tennis team will run into strong opposition

Crew Season to Open

A triangular race among the 150-lb. crews of Columbia, Navy and Princeton will launch the rowing season Saturday on Lake Carnegie. The middlebrows are favored. A race between the Columbia and Princeton freshmen lightweight will open the program at 3:50. The three junior varsities will leave for stake boats at 4:10, with the varsity race scheduled to start at 4:30. All races will be the Henley distance of 1 and 5/8 miles.

Princeton's varsity will meet Navy next Saturday, April 22 to open its 1961 season on Carnegie, with the middle jayvees and pebees also racing here. The only other major regatta in Princeton is scheduled for Saturday, May 13 when Cornell, Princeton and Yale compete for the Carnegie Cup.

when it faces Navy here Friday at 4. Coach John Conroy's team has victories over Middlebury and Georgetown to its credit.

The golfers, who topped Colgate and Lehigh on wind-swept Spruance Saturday, have another three-way match against Columbia and Villanova on Friday. They'll play Georgetown twice Saturday.

REYDEL IS NEW COACH

Of Lawrenceville Football. John J. Reydel, backfield coach for the past five years, has been appointed head coach of football at the Lawrenceville School. He succeeds Kenneth W. Kueffel who will become head coach at Wabash College. A member of the school's history department, Reydel has also been head baseball coach since 1959. Before coming to Lawrenceville he was backfield coach for three years at Hill School.

Lawrenceville will continue to run from a single wing under its new coach. Reydel is a graduate of Princeton University and received his M.A. from Harvard in 1964. He served in Korea as a captain in the Marine Corps.

TEAMS TO SEE ACTION

At Lawrenceville, Lawrenceville School's baseball team will take on the Haverford School in a 2:30 game this Saturday on the Lacie diamond. The team was scheduled to play the University of Pennsylvania freshmen on Wednesday.

The golf team will travel to West Point, N.Y., for a match with the Army Fletches on Saturday. On Wednesday, April 18, the baseball team will have a home game with the Princeton University freshmen at 2:30 and the golf team will have an away match with Haverford. The tennis team will play Red Bank away on Saturday and the Yale freshmen away on Wednesday.

The Red and Black baseball team opened its season Saturday with a 7-4 conquest of Trenton High. A wild pitch in the 11th inning gave the Lacies two runs and the victory.

Trenton had taken a 6-5 lead in the top of the inning. Chuck Miller went the route for Lawrenceville on the mound and drove in three runs and went three-for-four at the plate. He scored the winning run.

The tennis team downed the Penn freshmen, 7-2, in its opener last Saturday. Red and Black netmen took five of six singles matches and two of three doubles matches.

KEEGIN A GOOD GOALIE

For Dartmouth Freshmen. The most valuable player on the Dartmouth freshman hockey team during the past winter was Staffy Keegin of 33 Springfield Road. So reports Al Oakes, coach of the Indians' first-year team, which finished the season with a 10-8 record. Keegin moved into the starting assignment as goalie after the Christmas vacation, and held it steadily thereafter. He res corded with 360 saves in 15 games and allowed 85 goals. One of the top vicer credited to the Dartmouth freshmen was over St. Paul's, in which he made 38 saves while his team was winning, 2 to 1.

Keegin starred in the goal in both lacrosse and hockey at Darrow in New Lebanon, N.Y., where he captained both sports. Oakes said of him at Hanover, "He has been both the most improved and most valuable player on the team. He has the reflexes, the ability and the desire to become a great goal-tender."

BUSINESS In Princeton

TAX FORM EXPLAINED

By Lo-ai Assessors. The Tax Assessors of both Princeton municipalities and West Windsor Township have mailed a new local personal property tax return form to all owners of tangible property used in business.

The assessors said, in a joint statement, that the new form, dated 1967-68, Return of Tangible Personal Property Used in Business, is to be used by corporations, partnerships, individuals, educators, and other entities. The statement said that "used in business" means that "used in any activity, transaction or conduct, or exercised for gain or profit, or held for such use."

The return must also be filed by all professional persons such as doctors, dentists, lawyers and accountants. Persons using the form are to report property used during any part of 12 month period ending June 30, 1967. The law requires that the form be filed in duplicate with the local assessor on or before May 31, but an extension without penalty has been granted to June 15.

Returns may be filed with the assessor of each municipality in which tangible personal property used in business is located even though the form may reside or have headquarters elsewhere. The forms and instructions are available at the offices of all local assessors. Failure to receive a form in the mail does not relieve a taxpayer for the responsibility of filing.

GARAGE OPENS

To Serve a Foreign Car. P. J. Atkinson, a mechanic who has been in the automobile repair business since 1908, has opened a foreign car service garage in Blawiegher. He will operate his new business from the former firehouse at the Blawiegher crossroads.

Although Mr. Atkinson will service all makes and models, he will specialize in foreign cars, providing Castrol oil, special brake fluid and so on.

... Vote for Jim Mitchell On April 18

and you'll be cheering the landslide in November

What will it be for New Jersey? Four more years of Trenton politics — or four dynamic years of responsible government?

And what will it be for the Republican Party? Another defeat—or a landslide victory?

These are the questions you'll be answering with your vote on April 18.

If you believe New Jersey needs a great governor—and the party a great candidate—your vote will go to Jim Mitchell.

Jim Mitchell, Eisenhower's Secretary of Labor, is the man who's big enough to carry your hopes for the state and for the party. He's a statesman, a leader, a fighting campaigner—and he's a winner.

Former President Dwight Eisenhower, Senator Clifford Case, former Senator H. Alexander Smith and responsible, thinking Republicans and Independents in every corner of the state have given Jim Mitchell their full, whole-hearted support. They know he will win in November, and they know he will make the best governor New Jersey has ever had.

Today a great movement for better government is sweeping this state—and at the head of the movement is Jim Mitchell. We ask you to join this crusade. We ask you to make Jim Mitchell your candidate for governor.

Ordered and paid for by The Mercer County Citizens for Mitchell.
